

The FCC is now considering making changes to the way FM radio is heard in my community. A proposal for Low Power FM (LPFM) expansion would allow LPFM stations to take priority over current FM translator service. Air1 is a national and regional broadcaster with many local FM translators used to bring the Positive Alternative Air1 signal to communities across the nation. As an active voter and citizen, I would be distressed to lose my local Air1 FM Radio service!

Air1 provides a vital listening service to my wife, 2 children and me. There is no other positive, faith-centered, family friendly format on the FM radio dial.

I support the FCC's efforts to "clean up" our public airwaves but certainly not at the high cost of losing family friendly stations like Air1 and K-LOVE.

The service provided by Air1 is in the public interest as it provides an uplifting, positive message to children and adults in a format of great music with responsible, mature on-air personalities. Air1 is the FCC's great example of how the publicly owned broadcasting airwaves should be used.
